SUBJECT

Grant of one advance increment to Mr. S. R. Jamkhandi, Superintendent, Office of the Secretary, Representative Assembly & Legislative Council.

To

The Ex-Officio Secretary, Representative Assembly & Legislative Council
The Comptroller to Govt. through Financial Secretary.
No. Rel. 195-6/R.A. 28-28-1 dt 15-1-1929

Sanctioned one advance increment to Mr. S. R. Jamkhandi, with effect from 1st January 1929.

Submitted:—

I most respectfully beg to submit a personal request in the hope that it will receive sympathetic consideration at the hands of the higher authorities whom it is my privilege to serve.

2) I feel that my duties as Superintendent, Representative Assembly and Legislative Council, are really very onerous demanding frequently great personal sacrifice, not to speak of the capacity and intelligence that are ordinarily required. I also feel that I have been doing my work with unflagging zeal and devotion, with due loyalty and humility, and with the necessary earnestness and promptitude.

3) For similar work in the General and Revenue Secretariat some of the Superintendents have been rewarded either with advance increments or with personal allowances.

4) I stand to get my next increment from 1-12-28 with which my pay will be Rs.190/- in the grade 150-10-200. I beg to request that as a reward for my hard and heavy work I may kindly be given one advance increment from 1-12-28 raising my pay to Rs.200/- from that date, and that a suitable personal allowance, say, Rs.25/- per mensem, may also be kindly sanctioned to me.

K. Jamkhandi.

5) Mr. Jamkhandi came to this office at a time when it was newly organised to which he himself was also new. To add to this, the staff allowed to the office was very small with the result that the Superintendent's responsibilities increased to an abnormal extent. Also the triennial election both to the Representative Assembly and the Legislative Council intervened. The combined effect of all these was that the Superintendent had to strain every nerve to get through all this enormous quantity of work within the allotted time. Mr. Jamkhandi however proved equal to the occasion and everything went off well without any complaint. His work specially during the sessions of the Representative Assembly and Legislative Council is very taxing and he is called upon to do a considerable portion of casework in addition to supervision, disbursement of T.A. to the members, accounting for cash etc,.

6) When the question of fixing his pay came up for disposal in 1927 he was given an increase of onl Rs.5/-. His heavy and responsible duties in this office seem to require some better appreciation and his request for one advance increment may be kindly granted. He is to get Rs.190/- from 1-12-28 and the grant of a small concession that he now asks for will make him quite contented and will be an incenti to further useful work.

on 1.9.26 pa, in the [illegible] was 137- the pay in the next [illegible] time rate was 160. This is not borne out by the Service Register. pay + was raised from 145 & Rs 160/- with effect from 1.12.25. Of [illegible]

9) How does Mr. Jamkhandi's pay in comparison with his ex-colleagues in the cadre?

10) His service Rpt. and the Confdl. gradation list of the G.(S)R. may be put up.

11) Mr. Jamkhandi's name ceased to be included in the General and Revenue Secretariat gradation list from September 1924, when he was confirmed in the Representative Assembly and Legislative Council Office. Hence it is not possible to compare his pay with that of his colleagues prior to 1925; and it is not also possible to say what he would have been drawing had he continued in the Secretariat, for promotions in the Secretariat are not always by seniority, and moreover, the cadre of the Representative Assembly and Legislative Council office is distinct from that of the General and Revenue

Secretariat and the pay of the official in the one does not affect that in the other. However, the Government Order dated 17-1-1927 says that in the event of his transfer to the General and Revenue Secretariat the pay to be drawn by him would then be considered. In these circumstances, the pay that he might be drawing in the Representative - Assembly and Legislative Council office would not affect the question of his pay in the General and Revenue Secretariat, if eventually he is transferred to that office. The request is to treat his case as a special one in the circumstances mentioned in this office note dated 16-11-28. The Secretariat gradation list and the Service Register are put up.

I have perused the records. I am not sure that Mr. Jamkhandi has any legitimate cause for grievance in his personal position. If any concession must be shown to him for his good work, the last increment may be sanctioned when from 1st Jan. 29 is clear by from 1.12.29 - There is no case whatsoever for the grant of a personal allowance -
